AUROVILLE SEED FESTIVAL 2018

2018, DOCUMENTARY, 4 MINUTES

Townhall Reception LED Screen 2

There are two ways to look at a seed, Bernard of Auroville's Pebble Garden explains. The first is to cut it into pieces, put it under the microscope and study its cells, chromosomes and genes. In this case I can name the genes, but do I really understand the seed? The second is to plant a seed and watch it grow into a tree. Then we see that when we hold a seed in our hands, we hold the sun, the water and the earth and ourselves as co-creators in this process. This is to deeply understand the seed. This reminder of the interrelatedness of everything in nature encapsulates, in essence, the message of the Annual Seed Festival in Auroville.
